I. INTRODUCTION

The Oliver, et al. Plaintiffs commenced this action as a putative class action under F.R.C.P. 23. The class was never certified and this matter did not proceed as a class action. The Court previously approved the settlement of the monetary relief claims of the identified putative class members and dismissed the claims of the absent class members without prejudice. Following the settlement of the monetary relief claims, counsel for the parties continued to negotiate the non-monetary relief settlement to eliminate any unconstitutional practices pertaining to City employees seeking or executing remedy search warrants.

The parties have reached a tentative settlement agreement ("the Agreement") of the remaining non-monetary relief claims and are moving the Court for an Order approving the settlement of the non-monetary relief claims. Counsel for both parties believe that the proposed settlement of the non-monetary relief claims is fair and reasonable and hope that the procedures, supervision, training and auditing requirements under the revised search warrant and confidential informant policies will avoid a recurrence of the searches and seizures that led to the alleged violation of the Plaintiffs' Fourth Amendment rights in this case.

A. THE AGREEMENT SHOULD BE DEEMED A SETTLEMENT OF THE PUTATIVE CLASS MEMBERS CLAIMS PURSUANT TO FEDERAL RULE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE 23(E)

1. This action was commenced as a class action. The class was not certified.

OLIVER V. CITY OF OAKLAND, CASE NO. C08-04914 TEH

2. Until 2003, F.R.C.P. 23 (e) provided that a pre-certification settlement in a putative class action was subject to the approval of the Court to ensure that the settlement was not collusive or prejudicial. See e.g., Diaz v. Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands, 876 F.2d 1401, 1408 (9th Cir.1989). In 2003, F.R.C.P. 23(e) was amended as follows: "The claims, issues, or defenses of a certified class may be settled, voluntarily dismissed, or compromised only with the court's approval." (Emphasis added).
3. Rule 23, as amended, does not expressly state that approval of settlements in uncertified cases is not required and the Ninth Circuit has not yet clarified this issue. See, e.g., Holmes v. Collection Bureau of America, Ltd., 2010 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 5108 (N.D. Cal. 2010).
4. The Agreement resolves the injunctive relief claims and provides that the Court retains jurisdiction for two years, during which time the parties may petition for redress pertaining to compliance with the Agreement.
5. Due to the uncertainty of the current state of the law in the Ninth Circuit with respect to whether Court approval is still required for pre-certification settlements in putative class actions, the parties believe it is necessary to obtain the Court's approval of the Agreement in order to establish that the settlement, without formal notice to the putative class, is fair and reasonable and does not prejudice the absent class members and was not the product of collusion if the Ninth Circuit

1 determines that Court approval is required for settlements in putative class actions
2 which have not been certified.

- 3 6. The parties cite Miller v. Hygrade Food Products Corporation, 2002 U.S. Dist.
4 LEXIS 9329 (E.D. PA, May 23, 2002), in which the Court approved a pre-
5 certification damages settlement of a putative class action without notice to the 6 putative class where the claims of the absent putative class members were being
7 dismissed without prejudice. In that case, just as in the instant case, Plaintiffs'
8 counsel sought to identify as many of the individual, putative class members as 9 possible, obtained the agreement of all the identified class members to the 10 monetary relief settlement, and the Court previously determined that the proposed
11 monetary settlement terms were fair and reasonable under the circumstances.

12 13 II. STATEMENT OF FACTS

14 A. BACKGROUND OF THE UNDERLYING CASE

15 The Oliver, et al. Plaintiffs alleged that the subject case arose from a pattern and practice
16 by members of the Oakland Police Department of submitting warrant affidavits that contained
17 deliberately false or recklessly inaccurate information to the Alameda Superior Court in support
18 of the issuance of search warrants in narcotics cases. Plaintiffs further alleged that as a result of 19 customs, policies and practices of the City of Oakland, they suffered the violation of their rights
20 under the Fourth Amendment to the United States Constitution when they were subjected to 21 unreasonable searches and seizures.
